Foster to command Madison Fighter Wing

Col. Steven E. Foster has been named to command the 115th Fighter Wing, Wisconsin Air National Guard, replacing Brig. Gen. Fred R. Sloan, who commanded the unit for almost 14 years. Sloan assumed overall command of the Wisconsin Air National Guard March 1.

The Madison-based fighter wing, stationed at Dane County Regional Airport, operates F-16 Fighting Falcon aircraft. Foster has been serving as director of operations in the state's Air Guard headquarters.

The change-of-command ceremony will take place at 2:30pm. on Saturday, March 8.
